“You Touch Africa“ is a registered charity that was founded in 2006 and since then has been supporting local projects focusing especially on schools and hospitals in Africa. Unlike large organisations, You Touch Africa operates on the 1: 1 principle, meaning that the full sum of money donated goes directly to the targeted projects. And donations are always needed. KEEP IT SIMPLE! - the philosophy and history behind “You Touch Africa”

The idea for funding a charity came from Claudia Nagyivan after having travelled extensively in Tanzania. Claudia Nagyivan was inspired by the efforts of father Arbogast Lekule, a missionary priest from Tanzania who is based in London, in the area around his home village Kiraracha located in the Kilimanjaro region. Together with friends they founded “You Touch Africa” in 2006 in London, where Claudia lived at the time, aiming to bring about profound changes in the lives of the poor in Africa. All the trustees and associates are determined to establish lasting bonds through human solidarity and development projects. “You Touch Africa” is an official registered charity in the UK.

The philosophy of “You Touch Africa” is simple: Keep it simple! The charity aims to work in partnership with local people in Africa in areas of health, education and micro-credit to make lasting improvements to the lives of impoverished and vulnerable people making sure that 100% of the donations will be spent on the projects. You Touch Africa has a deep knowledge of African dynamics. Hence they can determine local needs and the availability of necessary skills. The charity has a proven track record of making careful projects choices, in working with trustworthy local volunteers, in carrying out and monitoring projects and in establishing links between donors and beneficiaries.

Control of costs

You Touch Africa has no paid staff and no expensive offices. All work running the trust is undertaken by volunteers. These measures enable them to keep their overhead costs to a minimum. Their administration costs are funded by the trustees and other supporters; hence they are able to make a commitment that 100% of donations for projects will be spent on those projects. The charity also recognizes that control of the expenditure in Africa is essential. Hence the need to work in partnership with trustworthy local people in a framework of accountability.

The success of “You Touch Africa”

In the past 10 years, many projects have been able to be realized, especially in the local schools and hospitals. Please visit the website www.youtouchafrica.org where you will find documentations on the undertaken projects.

“We believe that by working together with the Africans we can change their lives to the better and by doing so, change ours, too.” Father Arbo

The founders of “You Touch Africa” will be present at all the events: Father Arbogast Lekule, from the parish St. John Fisher in Southwark, London, and Claudia Nagyivan, Mallorca.
